Caloundra Headland Coastal Pathway - Boardwalk

July Update – Final

July activity

By Saturday 13 July - reopening of The Esplanade and new boardwalk

The Esplanade - section between Albert Street and Margaret Street

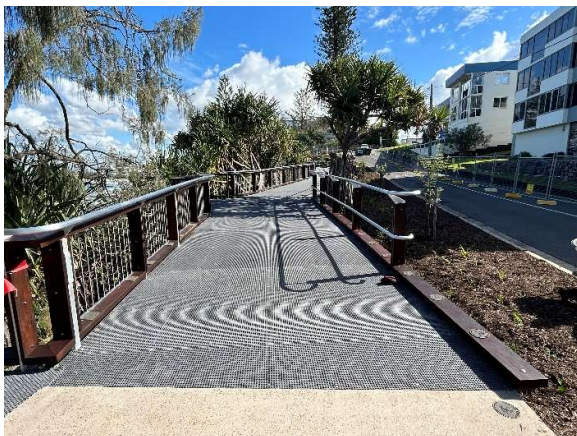

Minor finishing works and planting

Major construction complete

We are pleased to report that the new 160 metre long section of the Caloundra Headland Coastal Pathway Boardwalk is expected to open to our community on Saturday 13 July (weather permitting).

The Coastal Pathway takes advantage of our spectacular coastline that is enjoyed by residents and visitors. People can explore the coastline by walking, jogging or cycling on a combination of on and off road networks as part of the total 73 kilometre long coastal pathway route from Bells Creek in the south to Coolum in the north.

Minor works in July

Although the coastal pathway and boardwalk will be open, minor works will continue to take place for the next month or so. These include some electrical works and planting and are not expected to have any impact on our community.

The Esplanade - reopening

Reopening by Saturday 13 July – between Albert and Margaret Streets

The road will reopen to two way traffic by Saturday 13 July.

RSL Memorial Plaques and AHS Centaur Memorial

The RSL Memorial plaques have been reinstated.

The AHS Centaur Memorial car park will be reopen on 19 July.

A big thank you to our community

Council and the construction contractor would like to thank our community for your patience and cooperation during the construction period.

The new boardwalk provides a safer, more accessible and scenic opportunity for pedestrians and cyclists to enjoy the beauty of the headland and surrounds.

To find out more about the Coastal Pathway project

This will be our last project update for this section of the Coastal Pathway.
