But First...

- Who pays more than $300 per month for electricity?
- Who pays less than $100 per month for electricity?
- Who has Solar PV at their home?

...and some thoughts:

- Do you want to buy an EV?
- Could you use a battery?
- Could you change your usage?

...or are you

- Simply confused by bills, tariffs and rising prices?
- Struggling to decide what to do next?

So, what does a tonne of Carbon Emissions look like?

Reduces energy bills through small changes in WHEN and HOW you use energy.

HOW IT WORKS:

- ✓ MEASURES your energy usage and carbon output
- ✓ MANAGES behaviour change through simple guided actions
- ✓ MONETISES your energy usage and flexibility

Where did this idea come from?

OK - Let's consider how you buy petrol?

Let's Compare

Petrol Price

- Unleaded $1.70 to $2.30 litre.
- 6 price cycles per year.
- $30 per time.
- Get it wrong 3 times = $90.

Electricity Price

- -$1.00 to $17.50 kWh.
- Dishwasher - 1 cycle per day.
- 3c p/day or 45c at night.
- Day = $11 or Night $164 a year.

That's just one small change!

That doesn't look like a duck!

Why does timing matter?

Using renewable generated energy means cheaper running costs and less emissions.

Show me the Money!

Change your AC temperature

Adjust your pool pump timer

Run the dishwasher in the morning

...and modify your habits!

Change your fridge and freezer temperature

Clean your rangehood filters

Keep your feet warm

...did someone say awards?
